POLICY CHANGING

IN most public appearances Senator Barry Goldwater has made during his active campaign for support he has readily admitted the G.O.P. is a minority party.

He insists, however, that rapid changes can take place before November that could win most of the independent, or uncommitted, vote which represents ten percent of the total, and he is counting on this vote to get elected.

He could be right, and again he could be wrong. Changes will take place before November, but there is a mighty good chance they could benefit President Johnson more than the opposition, apart from the heavy loss the president has already sustained because of the Civil Rights bill, and even that could be modified.

So far as foreign policy is concerned, an issue Republicans seem to count heavily on, it could easily become one of President Johnson's strongest issues based on actual, solid achievements.

It is difficult to determine voter reaction to foreign policy during a cold war, but we have believed for a long time that Americans oppose long-drawn-out campaigns such as Korea, the Congo and South Vietnam. There are also millions who feel humiliated and chagrined over the Cuban fiasco and continued denial of American rights in certain places in Latin America, but long before we vote in November President Johnson may conceivably have a foreign policy of his own in this operation which offers promise of "peace with honor and dignity."

At any rate both houses of Congress, regardless of party affiliation, have given him the greatest trouble shown any Chief Executive since V-J Day in passing his foreign aid bill unanimously. That sort of faith can't be discounted by voters, especially if the unexpected turn and prolonged attacks on Communist supply lines North Vietnam prove successful. The new president at least is not running the risk Democrats ran in 1952 when General Eisenhower defeated Adlai Stevenson on a promise to try to Korea and attempt to secure a cease fire, then an armistice which is still in effect.

During a "long, hot summer," which has been promised by Civil Rights leaders, almost anything can happen that will have a bearing on this year's general election.

It would be a mistake for Republican leaders to count on being the recipient of all the same in votes to take place before next fall. It could be the other way around.

RECORD AD PLANS — With a record advertising budget and a friendly, personalized "Dodge Boys" copy theme, the St. Louis Region Dodge Advertising Association is mounting an extensive four-week ad campaign for the opening phase of their summer sales drive, beginning June 19. Tommy Taylor, of Taylor Motor Co., 4th and Poplar, Murray, a director of the 110-member dealer association, is shown here, in a planning session with William Lester (standing), St. Louis regional manager for Dodge.

Dodge To Mount New Five State Newspaper Campaign

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Dodge dealers in the five-state St. Louis region are intensifying their summer sales drive with a record advertising budget, and a friendly, personalized campaign about the "Dodge Boys" scheduled for newspapers and radio, beginning June 19.

Leonard C. Miller, of Miller and Sons Motor Co., Mattoon, Ill., and president of the St. Louis Region Dodge Advertising Association, said the first phase of the three-month summer campaign will be concentrated in 100 daily and weekly newspapers and 82 radio stations during the initial four-week period.

The 110-member dealer association serves the area including eastern Missouri, southern Illinois, southwest Indiana, western Kentucky, and northwestern Tennessee. "Despite an 18.4 per cent sales increase in our region for the '64 model year, or double the total industry increase here," Miller said, "we are pushing for an all-time sales record and this campaign can help us reach that goal."

The new ad series, with a dominating cartoon logo type identifying local dealers as "The Dodge Boys", with light and frequently humorous copy, will also feature regional landmarks and symbols. One scheduled insertion will display the Jefferson Memorial Arch in use as a giant swing, with the copyline, "The Whole Town's Swinging with the Dodge Boys". Another typical print ad will be illustrated with a Missouri riverboat, and the headline, "The Dodge Boys Are on the Move". Copy will pinpoint regional sales success.

Baltimore Pitchers Have All But Experience. Breechen Helps

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

The dope on the Baltimore Orioles' young power pitchers is that they have everything except experience—and Harry Breechen takes care of that for 'em all.

Breechen is the "father confessor" for all the young Oriole pitchers—the coach to whom they go when things go wrong.

Steve Barber is the latest young Oriole to visit the old Oriole and come away with a solution to his problem. Breechen, the former St. Louis Cardinal World Series hero, diagnosed Barber's trouble as a faulty motion and showed it down in somewhat the same fashion that the Los Angeles Dodger fireballer Sandy Koufax showed down his motion.

The result is a return to 20-game 1963 winning form by the 25-year-old Barber, who has won three of his last four starts including a 3-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox Tuesday night that enabled the Orioles to stay within eight percent age points of first place in the American League. The league-leading White Sox won the first game of the two-night doubleheader, 5-0, behind Juan Pizarro's three-hitter.

Barber, who didn't win his first game this season until May 31, allowed four hits and one walk and struck out five in squaring his record at 3-3. Getting stronger as he went along, Barber retired the last 14 White Sox in order. He was backed by a nine-hit attack that included three by Charley Lau and two by Brooks Robinson.

Homers by Pete Ward and Floyd Robinson were the big blows for the White Sox in the opener as Pizarro faced only 30 batters in scoring his eighth win against three defeats. Milt Pappas suffered his fourth loss for Baltimore.

Elsewhere in the American League, the New York Yankees won 7-5, after a 6-5 loss to the Boston Red Sox; the Cleveland Indians beat the Minnesota Twins, 5-3; the Los Angeles Angels scored a 10-inning, 7-5 victory over the Washington Senators and the Kansas City Athletics whipped the Detroit Tigers, 7-4 and 6-0.

In the National League, Philadelphia defeated Chicago, 4-2; Pittsburgh shaded New York, 2-1; St. Louis downed Houston, 7-1; Los Angeles beat Milwaukee, 5-1 and Cincinnati whipped San Francisco, 9-4.

Frank Malzone's two-run eighth-inning homer and Dick Radat's shut-out relief pitching over the last 1 2-3 innings enable the Red Sox to snap the Yankees' seven-game winning streak despite Roger Maris' 11th homer. The Red Sox roughed up Yankee ace Whitey Ford in the first two innings of the second game but Ford wound up winning the ninth straight decision since an opening-day loss with the aid of Pete Mikkelsen's two innings of close-out relief and homers by Joe Pepitone and Tom Tresh.

Kralick Wins Seventh

Jack Kralick allowed 10 hits and four walks but struck out eight batters and gained his seventh win against one defeat on the winds of homers by Bob Chance, Woody Held and Leon Wagner. Despite all their base-runners, two of the Twins' homers came on solo homers by Rich Rollins and Frank Kosco.

Ed Kiskadee's two-run 10th-inning homer lifted relief pitcher Bob Lee to his second win for Los Angeles and tagged Washington's Ron Kline with his fifth setback. Kiskadee also had two singles and drove in a run with a sacrifice fly while John Kennedy homered for the Senators.

Diego Segui pitched five-hit ball for eight innings and hit a three-run double to win his fifth game for Kansas City and then left-hander Ted Bowsfield blanked the Tigers with eight hits in the nightcap of the two-night doubleheader. It was the Athletics' fifth straight victory under Manager Mel McCas after they dropped their first game following the replacement of Ed Lopez.

Roseboro Is Unsung Hero Of Dodgers

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

Everybody knows how valuable Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale are to the Los Angeles Dodgers but don't forget the unsung hero in the team's success.

He's Johnny Roseboro, who has been handling the great Dodger pitchers flawlessly for the last three years and who this year is coming to their aid with an unexpected weapon: His bat.

A confirmed 240-hitter for seven seasons, the 31-year-old catcher from Ashland, Ohio, is the Dodgers' only 300-hitting regular at 305 and for the last 15 games has been hammering away at a .447 clip.

Roseboro swung a big stick for the Dodgers again Tuesday night when his two doubles played a key role in Drysdale's 5-1 victory over the Milwaukee Braves and former nemesis Warren Spahn. Roseboro doubled home Tommy Davis with the Dodgers' second run in the fourth inning and started a three-run rally with his second double in the seventh.

Drysdale Wins Ninth

Drysdale, who was 8-7 a year ago on route to a 19-17 season record, pitched a four-hitter and struck out eight to win his ninth game of the season against five losses. The Braves scored their only run in the sixth inning on consecutive doubles by Ed Mathews and Hank Aaron.

Spahn, suffering his first loss to the Dodgers since June 13, 1962, was tagged for six hits in seven innings and had his record squared at 5-5. The 45-year-old left-hander, who started the season with 350 wins, has pitched only two complete games in 15 starts.

The Cincinnati Reds drubbed the San Francisco Giants, 9-4, the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Chicago Cubs, 4-2, the St. Louis Cardinals routed the Houston Colts, 7-1, and the Pittsburgh Pirates nipped the New York Mets, 2-1, in other National League games.

In the American League, Baltimore defeated Chicago, 3-1, after an 8-0 loss, New York beat Boston, 7-5, after losing 6-5, Cleveland edged Minnesota, 5-3, Los Angeles downed Washington, 7-5, and Kansas City swept Detroit, 7-4 and 6-0.

Vada Pinson and Leo Cardenas hit home runs for the Red Sox in piling up an 8-0 lead and then called on Joey Jay to halt a ninth-inning comeback when Ryan Davis walked the bases full. Orlando Cepeda hit his eighth homer for the Giants.

Philis On Streak

The Phillies ran their winning streak to four games with an eighth-inning homer by John Herrin, Stein's third homer. Dennis Bennett went 6 1-3 innings for his eighth victory while Larry Jackson suffered his fifth loss for the Cubs.

Ken Boyer drove in three runs with a homer and three singles and Dick Groat, Curt Flood and Lou Brock had two hits each to lead a 15-hit Cardinal attack that enabled Curt Simmons to coast to his seventh win. Simmons allowed only four hits, walked one and struck out three. Rusty Staub homered for the Colts.

Bob Veale tied the Pirates' single-game strikeout record of 12 for the second time in 10 days and also drove in the winning run with a single in the second inning. Veale walked in the Mets' run in the first inning after an error by Dick Schofield prolonged the inning. Jack Fisher suffered his fifth loss.

Four Bride-elects Honored At Party At Sprunger Home

Mrs. Arlo Sprunger and daughters, Tina, Sally, and Betsy entertained at their home on South Fifteenth Street with a Coke party on Wednesday, June 10, at ten o'clock in the morning.

The occasion was in honor of four bride-elects who were members of Girl Scout Troop 12 for five years under the leadership of Mrs. Sprunger.

Honorees at the party were Miss Sandra Fair, Miss Linda Marine, Miss Suzanne Moyer, and Miss Anne Wrath.

Each of the June bride-elects was presented with a piece of handmade pottery created and made by Mrs. Sprunger. Each one's name, the date, and Mrs. Sprunger's name were printed in gold on the pottery.

Refreshments were served buffet style from the dining room table overlaid with a pink and white cloth and centered with a floral arrangement in the same colors. The Cokes were in a crystal bowl filled with ice and the other appointments were in crystal. Minis, cookies, nuts, and coke were served to the guests which included the

Mrs. Hazel Tutt Presides At Grove Meeting Thursday

Grove 126 of the Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle met Thursday evening at 6:30 at the Murray Women's Club House for the regular monthly meeting.

Mrs. Hazel Tutt, grove president at the dinner and during the ritualistic ceremonies. Mrs. Loretta Jobs past president, gave the invocation.

In recognition of Flag Day Sunday, the table was decorated with small flags, effectively arranged the full length of the long table, which was centered with a colorful arrangement of flowers. Later the flowers were sent to one of the members, Mrs. Myrtle Farmer, who is home from the hospital convalescing from a recent illness.

Mrs. Robbie Paschall and Mrs. Jobs were in charge of decorations. Mrs. Birdie Parker received the attendance award and Mrs. Nannie McCoy the birthday gift from the president. Mrs. Lula Farmer was welcomed back after an extended absence.

Special guests were Misses Karla and Jennifer Gravette, Greenville, Tenn., who are in Murray visiting their grandmother, Mrs. Louise Baker.

During the opening ceremony they were escorted to seats of honor by the grove attendant, Gladys Hale. Officiating in the team for the activities were Mesdames Katie Overcast, Gusie Geurin, Jessie Cole, Oella Crawford, Mary Louise Baker, Birdie Parker, Odelle Vance, and Robbie Paschall; with Golda Curd as captain and Muri Robertson at the piano.

The grove chaplain, Genora Hamlett, led the devotion in the ritualistic work.

Other officers participating in the ceremonies were first vice president, Carmen Horton; second vice president, Lavola Wyatt; recording secretary, Kathleen Patterson; financial secretary, Ruth Lassiter.

Miss Lassiter extended an invitation to all Woodmen Circle members to attend the covered dish dinner of the Jessie Houston Service Club at her home on Thursday, June 25. Mrs. Paschall will be co-hostess.

Grand Chapter Committee member of Arcadia Chapter No. 967, Calumet City, Ill., and his wife, Mrs. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Newman, and Mrs. Mae Hall, Trinity Chapter No. 442, St. Louis, Mo.

A social hour was enjoyed with refreshments being served.

The next regular meeting will be held Tuesday, July 14, at 7:30 p.m. A special meeting for the purpose of an initiation will be held Tuesday, July 28.

Dear Abby . . .

The Economic Image!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please explain this one. My father is 52, a college graduate and has been in business for 27 years. We live in a $55,000 home in the suburbs. Since President Johnson started turning off the lights in the White House, my father has gone on an economy kick with our lights at home. When we leave the house all the lights are turned out, and when we come back it is so dark we can hardly see our way into the driveway. If one of us leaves a room for even five minutes, if we don't turn off the light we hear about it. We are allowed to burn a light only in the room where we are, and we have to go feeling our way around the house. I believe in being conservative—but this is ridiculous. What to do?

IN DARKNESS
DEAR IN: Your father can't be in the insurance business or he would know that a house in total darkness is a burglar's dream. And a well-lighted home is good accident insurance. Better to enlighten ONE father than to curse the darkness.

DEAR ABBY: Speaking of which in the bird kingdom is the more beautiful, the male or the female? In southwestern Canada you will find the PHALAROPE. The male is dull and rather colorless, but the female has beautiful, brilliant feathers and a white rump. The female does the courting, lays the eggs and then she departs to find herself another mate while the abandoned male is left sitting on the eggs.

DEAR C. R. M.: I am familiar with the bird. We have a lot of them out here in Southern California.

DEAR ABBY: If you still have the name and address of that young girl who complained because her boy friend fell asleep every chance he had, for heaven's sake, please tell her to drop him and forget him! I have been married for 33 years to a man who falls asleep the minute he sits down. He is not ashamed to fall asleep in church, at the theatre or even while we are entertaining guests in our home. Every time I look at him he is asleep. We have been places where the liveliest party is going on, and I always have to wake him up to take me home. I have begged, pleaded, threatened to leave him and cried, but nothing works. I've tried to get him to see a doctor, but he says he likes himself the way he is, and wouldn't take anything to keep him awake if he were offered it. It is like living with a dead man. Oh, what's the use? I should have left him years ago.

RIP VAN WINKLE'S WIFE
DEAR ABBY: In answer to that question, "Do blondes have more fun?" I happen to know a married man in the neighborhood who has a blonde wife. He is bald, and I can tell you for certain that HE has more fun than SHE does. Sincerely yours,

Summer Shoe Styles Cool Silhouettes In Fine Leathers

SMOOTH CALF leather in bone white is used for a pump with a mid-height heel and a decorative leather bow.

THE PERFECT LOOK in afternoon shoes is this new version of the tiny T-strap in black calf with a crescent toe.

By SUSAN BARDEN

NEW footwear fashions are soft and pretty and come in a wide variety of new designs, colors and interesting textures of leather.

The outstanding news is in sling-backs, T-straps and low-cut pumps with open sides and cut-outs. Slings feature either a spaghetti-ty, string sling, or else a very wide sling with just a slice of heel showing.

Variety Of Straps

In T-strap there are low and mid-strap straps, split straps, skinny, medium and fat straps.

Spectators attract interest this season by novel combinations of leathers and colors and with contrasting colors showing under perforated trim.

Crescent toes are seen with high or mid-high heels. Lower heels are teamed with oval toes. And the tapered toe is still in.

HUSH PUPPIES with eyelet toes are made of pigskin.

ROSS MACDONALD'S THE GREAT NEW THRILLER Chill

CHAPTER 26
"I RATHER like Roy Bradshaw," I said to Jerry Marks. "But I was pretty certain he was our man."
In the remaining minutes before we reached the nursing home, I told him briefly what I'd learned from Tom McGee, and from Sheriff Crane. Jerry whistled, but made no other comment.
Dr. Godwin opened the door for us. He wore a white smock and an aggrieved expression.
"You're late, Mr. Marks. I was just about ready to call the whole thing off."
"We had a little emergency. Thomas McGee was arrested about seven o'clock tonight. Mr. Archer happened to see him, and he was arrested, also. Godwin turned to me. "You were with McGee?"
"He sent for me, and he talked. I'm looking forward to comparing his story with his daughter's."
"I'm afraid you aren't—ah—co-opted to this session," Godwin said with some embarrassment. "As I pointed out to you before, you don't have professional immunity."
"I do if I'm acting on Mr. Marks's instructions. Which I am."
"Mr. Archer is correct, on both counts," Jerry said.
Godwin let us in reluctantly. We were outsiders, interlopers in his shadowy kingdom. I had lost some of my confidence in his benevolent despotism, but I kept it to myself for the present.
He took us to the examination room where Dolly Kincaid was waiting. She was sitting on the end of a padded table, wearing a sleeveless white hospital gown. Her husband Alex stood in front of her, holding both her hands. His eyes stayed on her face, hungry and worshipping, as if she was the priestess or the goddess of a strange one-member cult.
Her hair was shining and smooth. Her face was composed. Only her eyes had a sullen restlessness and inwardness. They moved across to me and failed to give any sign of recognition. Godwin touched her shoulder.
"Are you ready, Dolly?"
"I suppose I am."
She lay back on the padded table. Alex held on to one of her hands.
"You can stay if you like, Mr. Kincaid. It might be easier if you didn't."
"Not for me," the girl said. "I feel safer when he's with me."

I want Alex to know all about everything."
"Yes, I want to stay."
Godwin filled a hypodermic needle, inserted it in her arm, and taped it to the white skin. He told her to count backward from one hundred. At ninety-six the tension left her body and an inner light left her face. It flowed back in a diffused form when the doctor spoke to her:
"Do you hear me, Dolly?"
"I hear you," she murmured.
"Speak louder. I can't hear you."
"I hear you," she repeated. Her voice was faintly slurred from the effect of the pentothal.
"Who am I?"
"Dr. Godwin."
"Do you remember when you were a little girl you used to come and visit me in my office?"
"I remember."
"Who used to bring you to see me?"
"Mommy did. She used to bring me in Aunt Alice's car."
"Where were you living then?"
"In Indian Springs, in Aunt Alice's house."
"And Mommy was living there, too?"
"Mommy was living there, too. She lived there, too."
SHE WAS flushed, and talking like a drunken child. The doctor turned to Jerry Marks with a handing-over gesture. Jerry's dark eyes were mournful.
"Do you remember a certain night," he said, "when your Mommy was killed?"
"I remember. Who are you?"
"I'm Jerry Marks, a lawyer. It's all right to talk to me."
"It's all right," Alex said. The girl looked up at Jerry sleepily. "What do you want me to tell you?"
"Just the truth. It doesn't matter what I want, or anybody else. Just tell me what you remember."
"I'll try."
"Did you hear the gun go off?"
"I heard it." She screwed up her face as if she was hearing it now. "I am—it frightened me."
"Did you see anyone?"
"I didn't go downstairs right away. I was scared."
"Did you see anyone out the window?"
"No. I heard a car drive away. Before that I heard her running."
"You heard her running?" Jerry said.
"I thought it was Aunt Alice

"I don't exist for the purpose of saving detectives' work," Low Archer is going to be told. Continue the story here tomorrow.

Pirates Get Tighter Hold On Top Place

The Pirates tightened their hold on first place while the Giants lost their fifth straight game in Col. league action last night at city park.

The Pirates, ahead by only one run going into the last inning, picked up two runs in that frame on Burton Young's triple to insure the 10 to 7 win.

Earlier, Bobby Stone's three-run homer in the third had brought the Tigers within striking distance at 6 to 7. The bias cleared the left field fence, the third hit out of the park this season.

The Pirates now are firmly entrenched in first place, with five wins and no losses. The loss dropped the Tigers to 1 and 3.

In the first game, the Giants appeared on the verge of winning their only game so far. They led 10 to 9 going into the bottom of the seventh.

The Braves, though, came up with two big runs to improve their record to 3 and 1 and hold onto second position in the league. The Giants are now 0 and 5, Lampkins was the winning pitcher, and Dugan the loser.

Hepatitis To Be Controlled In Future

By CHARLES S. TAYLOR

United Press International
ATLANTA (UPI) — It is only a matter of time before the virus that causes hepatitis is isolated—a step that inevitably will lead to its control and possible eradication.

Dr. Robert Klasing, chief of hepatitis activities at the U. S. Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta, personally believes the step will come within five years. Medical researchers here and in laboratories across the nation are working full time toward that end.

If they succeed, they will strike a telling blow against one of mankind's most debilitating diseases. Hepatitis is an inflammation of the liver, an acute infection. It is characterized by fever, nausea, malaise and abdominal discomfort, followed by jaundice.

Convalescence may be prolonged, although many cases are mild without pain and recognizable only by liver function tests. Usually, it is not a killer.

Cases Increase
It became a reportable disease nationally in 1952. Although epidemics of it appear to occur in 7-to-10 year cycles, its year-to-year incidence on the charts of medical statisticians is upward. In 1961, which apparently was a cycle year, 72,651 cases of serum and infectious hepatitis were reported in the United States.

Determined efforts to bring hepatitis under control were first started by this country during World War II. It has only been in this decade, however, that the big push to solve the virus got under way.

When the answer is finally discovered, Dr. Klasing believes that—as in polio—more than one type of virus will be found.

So far, among all the hepatitis specimens sent to the laboratory here for analysis and identification "seven or eight new viruses have been isolated from cases of hepatitis, but there is no evidence yet that these viruses cause the disease."

Widespread Activity
Klasing and his associates are attacking the problem on four fronts. One is the identification of suspected viruses sent her by health departments all over the nation.

Another is an attempt to find a host that will successfully support viruses from suspected cases of hepatitis. Researchers presently are using suckling hamsters, mice and human cells.

A third method of research is what Klasing calls "interference studies." In this instance, researchers go on the assumption that they have the hepatitis virus growing. They add other agents to see if the hypothetical hepatitis agent will interfere with the growth of a second known virus.

A fourth avenue of attack is a study of the chemical properties of cells that have been inoculated with hepatitis specimens, compared to normal cells.

All four methods are aimed at the single goal of putting the finger on the virus that strikes people of all ages but hits the 5-15 age group more than any other, according to Dr. Alan S. Datta, assistant chief of hepatitis surveillance. Hepatitis tends to be more prevalent in the poorer areas of a community, where conditions are crowded and there is a lack of proper sanitation.
